

Get ready to rock and roll this Friday

Cornerstone will be stopping off in Boston this weekend on their European tour.

On Friday night, The Axe & Cleaver will play host to the band, with the gig kicking off at 8pm. Tickets and entry are free and I Got Spiders, from Peterborough, will be supporting Cornerstone.

The four piece are made up of Alina Peter, Michael Wachelhofer, Steve Wachelhofer and Christoph Kars, who were signed in 2008 by ATOM Records. September 9 will see the release of their third studio album "Reflections." The band are excited about UK dates of their tour.

Alina Peter said: "I really can't wait to come back to UK, especially the gigs in Boston. We were always well received and we had a ton of fun on stage, so it will not be different this time, hopefully."

"Having 30 concerts in five different countries all over Europe is an absolutely new experience for everyone in the band, but especially the UK-gigs will be probably the most exciting ones for us." To find out more search Cornerstone on Facebook or visit: <http://www.cornerstone.co.at/>.
