

Fying visit by rock band

AUSTRIAN rock band Cornerstone perform at The Flying Circus, Newark, on Sunday ahead of the release of their latest album.

Austria may be known as the classical music centre of the world, but the band say they are ready to rock.

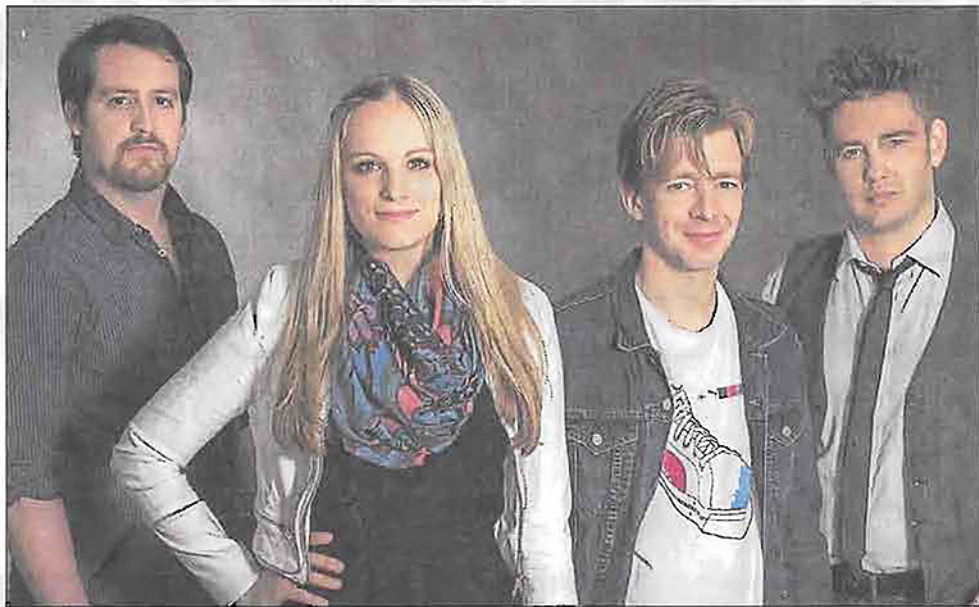

They are Alina Peter on vocals and guitar; Michael Wachekhofer on vocals, bass and keyboards, Steve Wachelhofer on vocals and guitar; and Christoph Karas on drums and percussion.

They are described as 1980s rock mixed with the harder edge of today's sound.

The band signed to record label Atom Records in 2008 and have since done numerous tours across the US and Europe, including supporting The Animals, John Waite and New Model Army.

Their third album, Reflections, is released in the UK in September.

It follows Head Over Heels, released in 2008, and Somewhere In America, from 2011.
